Join Us!

A Connected Enterprise provides an incredible opportunity to drive productivity and bring more money to the bottom line. There are many challenges, but the opportunity available and ultimately the value provided by making the journey are well worth the effort. You are invited to join us for a series of presentations and an open discussion forum about the challenges, opportunities, best practices, and the value provided with a truly Connected Enterprise. As a global manufacturer, Rockwell Automation has faced this challenge head on and is well along this journey. We will be joined by our partners Cisco, Microsoft and Panduit to share our experience and the value we see in becoming a Connected Enterprise. This is an exciting opportunity to network with industry experts and learn how to gain a competitive advantage and reap the benefits that taking this journey provides.
